

I believe in a god given, government inforced country i have the right not to be called by unknown and often times rude individuals at home. At work is one thing, where I'm paid to answer the phones but at home, to pick up my phone and there is someone on the other line that has forgotten any form of training....etc...